

Isola 2000 is a great choice for a long weekend in France: short transfers and snow-sure skiing with easy access to varied slopes that reach over 2,600m. The resort itself is at 2,000m with 120km of mostly intermediate slopes, both above and below the tree line. There's also plenty to amuse advanced skiers, alongside one of the best village nursery slopes we have ever come across. If you want to explore further afield, the smaller area of Auron is just a half-hour drive away. Here there is a further 135km of piste (covered by the same lift pass), 21 lifts and 42 pistes to enjoy.

Top Runs

- Isola 2000 is a fantastic place to learn to ski. With hardly any crowds and no rush hour at the end of the day, beginners will quickly be able to gain confidence in their skiing.
- The Pévelos area has a great selection of blues, perfect for cruising.
- Take the chairlift from the centre of resort to Levant. This is a great area for intermediates, especially the area below Col de la Lombarde.
- For the more advanced or those just wishing to push themselves a bit harder, ski over to St. Sauveur where you will find a selection of reds as well as a black.

Best for Après Ski

- Le Petit Chamois
Highly recommended if you fancy a beer after a day skiing.
- Chalet Belvédère
Accessed by ski or foot, the restaurant offers panoramic views from its terrace. Visitors can enjoy an array of food and drink options.
- Le Crocodile
Probably the most popular bar in town. It serves many different flavoured rums – the house speciality being basil – and is open until the early hours of the morning.
- Le Loona
'On the go' food, sourdough sandwiches, a restaurant and a wine bar – Le Loona has something for everyone.

Recommended Restaurants

- The Cow Club
Located on the nursery slope. Serves great food in the evening and very popular for a lunch.
- La Valette
A good choice for those with children; they have a donkey living in the stable just below the restaurant. It's important to book well in advance.
- L'Ourson
Serves a large selection of local cuisine, including 'escargots' and tartiflette for a very decent price.
- La Guérite
Renowned for its extensive menu, sample local dishes served at a reasonable price.
